

Director

Christopher P. Flynn, JD
President, Massachusetts Food Association

Christopher Flynn is the President of the Massachusetts Food Association, a non-profit trade association for the supermarket and grocery industry in Massachusetts, representing retailers, food brokers, manufacturers and wholesalers. He is responsible for coordinating the Massachusetts Food Association's activities, including serving as a liaison to the board, coordinating committees, and overseeing staff, legal counsel, and events.

Chris joined the Massachusetts Food Association in 1986 after being admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, and served as an Assistant Attorney General. He held several executive posts before being elected president of the Massachusetts Food Association in 1989.

Christopher is one of the longest standing members of the Greater Boston Food Bank's Board of Directors, serving virtually continuously since 1987.

Christopher is a graduate of Boston College and Suffolk University Law School.
