Member, Board of Directors
Member, Advancement Committee

Natacha Gassenbach currently serves as Senior Vice President, Corporate Affairs and Chief Communications Officer at Biogen. In this role she leads the global corporate affairs function including external and internal communications, branding and reputation, patient advocacy, and corporate responsibility. She also oversees the Biogen Foundation and philanthropy. Prior to joining Biogen, Ms. Gassenbach spent more than 20 years in various leadership roles in the biopharmaceutical industry with experience in medical devices, vaccines and pharmaceuticals, spanning from early-stage companies to large corporations. She led communications and engagement with key stakeholders during major, complex transformations and participated in the launch of breakthrough therapies.

The Greater Boston Food Bank welcomed Natacha to its Board of Directors in October 2024.

Ms. Gassenbach earned a master's degree in journalism and communication from the University of Paris Sorbonne.
